The president also gave an overview of continued progress on the new Master Plan, and reviewed the multi-faceted plan for introducing the ideas contained in it to the Longwood community, including a community reception later in the evening at the Longwood Center for Visual Arts. He offered perspective on the value of the inclusive process and very strong working relationship between Longwood and Farmville. He expressed his appreciation for the team at Longwood that had worked most closely on the plan, under the leadership of Dick Bratcher.
